Elevator Pitch

“ This community will be about technology and technology alone. No marketing, sales, leads, or anything like that. We will focus on Windows Virtual Desktop, including the latest news around Nerdio Manager for WVD. We'll provide tech insides, roadmap items, discussions, training, and of course a bunch of swag to go with it.

We want to learn from you. We value your feedback and any other comments, suggestions, or ideas you might have. And we don't mind having a little fun while doing so. “

What's in it for me?

- Community edition of our software, Nerdio Manager for WVD
- A training series on how to get started with and use Nerdio Manager for WVD
- Various other (training) topics around WVD, EUC, and Azure in general
- Best effort support and access to our engineering (and sales) team
- Open discussions about WVD, Azure, Windows 10, Microsoft in general, NMW. And everything you can think of
- The latest and greatest around our portfolio
- For those who might be interested, we offer an interesting rebate/kickback program
- Once allowed, or when things get back to "normal" again, we'd like to organize small dinner parties every once in a while already "out in the open", so to speak. We don't "hide" anything from our (potential) do understand that sometimes it can be a bit confusing when it comes to licensing, ling works, etc. Therefore, we decided to collect all of this information into a single post e very interesting talks around Nerdio Manager for WVD (NMW in short), which some cases it was more about the bits and bytes; the technology involved than es, for example.

er our product. Not only during our meeting, but also in the days after. He provided of his tweets. A few of his Tweets were on the feature set of NMW, it's completeness, u again for that, Claudio), others were on pricing, and "hidden costs" regarding the ch, in all fairness, we didn't cover during our talk.

about using #WVD, @GetNerdio is a nother league and fixes the big list at WVD has. Another lesson to be its own is not enterprise ready at all.
g convince you otherwise.
